Storytelling. Telling a story is an art. Telling a story is far more than relaying the facts. Honestly, someone who simply tells you the facts, as they remember it, really in the end is unable to paint for you an image of what the story is about. Stories need good storytellers. The facts are important, but they can leave you glossy-eyed without the details of the story. Descriptions of the place, the weather, the persons involved, what they looked like and how they acted all tell more than “just the facts,” they reveal the truth.

Unfortunately, in our present-day culture the word “story” is equated with “legend” or “fairy tale.” Nothing could be further from the truth. The story of your life is more than just some important factual dates. The story of your life is not a fairy tale, it is real and has depth beyond the factual. Jesus wants to give us an idea of what God’s story is, which is directly related to us. We are at the center of God’s story. You and I are not “the” center, God is the center, but we are the center of His story.

To help us understand the breathless width of God’s story for creation, Jesus tells us stories about God’s plan, His Kingdom. These can be frustrating if we simply want the cold hard facts. But, the cold hard facts fall short of evoking in you and me a love affair with God. So, Jesus gives us parables, stories that make us think outside the box. Let’s face it, none of us, or this world, or the universe would be here if God didn’t think outside the box.

Thinking outside the box expands not just our knowledge but our imagination. And it is the imagination bolstered by factual experience that makes it possible for me and you to fall in love with a God whom we cannot see, but who is present all around us.

Jesus gives us examples of what God’s kingdom is like. Those images He draws for us describe less of a place, as we think of it, and more of a state of being. The fact is that the kingdom of heaven is not set in a certain physical place or time. Heaven is [the Catechism of the Catholic Church tells us] the “communion of life and love with the Trinity, with the Virgin Mary, the angels and all the blessed... To live in heaven is to be with Christ. The elect [the baptized who are purified by God’s mercy] live in Christ, but they retain, or rather find, their true identity, their own name [in Jesus the risen One].”

Our participation in the kingdom of Heaven rests on our willingness in this life to seek union with God. This union is not found in a Buddhist monastery disconnected from the world. This union is found in seeking solidarity with God’s creation, in particular with the people God has created and intends to redeem. Thus, you and I need to draw closer to our fellow human beings and we need to do this with the same tenacity as the merchant who finds the all-valuable pearl, or the person who finds the buried treasure and buys the field with his/her last penny or even like the dragnet that takes it all in, trying to love every person and leaving the judgment to God.

Heaven looks like all of us at one table with God, Father, Son and Spirit, who is both at the head of that table and the table itself of which we are a part. Who will you sit next to at that table? You and I don’t make up the place cards, God does. Perhaps a good exercise to prepare us to sit at that heavenly table is to imagine sitting next to a person or group of people we dislike in the here and now. What sort of work do you need to do with yourself to be ready to sit next to these future heavenly dinner companion(s)? Let us do that work with the same dedication as the treasure finder, the merchant and the dragnet.

Festival Day Needs. Though we will have a one-day fest this year we still want to have activities for the kids and young people as well as the adults. Help will be needed to make the day a success. Baked goods are also still needed for our super festival bakery, see page 6 of this bulletin for more information. I am thankful to our Knights of Columbus who are coordinating the parish food booth which will have the best of the best food truck fare.

Eucharistic Adoration

St. Michael Ministries

Have you considered joining a ministry at St. Michael Parish? There are over 32 ministries where you can use your time, talent, and treasure in the Name of Jesus.

Ministry Profile

Meet Cindy!

Cynthia Marshall

Arts & Environment
Ministry

For Cindy Marshall, joining the Art & Environment Ministry was the perfect way to become part of the St. Michael Parish family. After spending most of her life in Hammond and moving to Dyer in 2010, Cindy was eager to become an active parishioner, one who could serve God while getting to know others. Cindy loves decorating the church and working alongside fellow parishioners to create beautiful spaces that enhance worship throughout the liturgical year. What she enjoys most is seeing everyone come together, each sharing their talents to accomplish a common goal.

Although she admits she was a little shy at first, the warmth and positivity of the Art & Environment team quickly put her at ease. The friendships she formed encouraged her to become involved in several other ministries as well. In retirement, Cindy has discovered an important truth: our gifts never retire. She believes that every person has talents that are needed and valued, no matter their age or stage of life.

Her invitation to others is simple: Come on down and join Art & Environment! Whether you're young or young at heart, a man or a woman, there is a place for you. You may be surprised at how sharing your gifts can brighten not only the church, but your own life as well.

Reflections...

The Word

(Readings for August 2, 2026, Eighteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time)

- I. Isaiah 55:1-3
The Lord invites all who are thirsty to “Come to the water!” God asks the people to take heed, that they may drink wine and milk, eat well and delight in the rich fare of the everlasting covenant.
- II. Romans 8:35, 37-39
Nothing, not even death, can separate the faithful from the love of God in Christ Jesus.
- III. Matthew 14:13-21
Huge crowds followed Jesus. He felt compassion for them and healed the sick. He saw that they were hungry and rather than send them away empty, He gave them bread and fish in abundance.

Prayer to St. Michael

Saint Michael the Archangel, defend us in battle, be our protection against the wickedness and snares of the devil; may God rebuke him, we humbly pray; and do thou, O Prince of the heavenly host, by the power of God, cast into hell Satan and all the evil spirits who prowl through the world seeking the ruin of souls. Amen.
